A STRIKING OFF-CENTER JUNGLE GREEN DIAL FEATURING A HAND- GUILLOCHÉ PATTERN

Adding a touch of traditional craftsmanship to an innovative and outstandingly designed watch, this Gravity Equal Force features a guilloché engraved dial with a Grain d'orge horizontal pattern, that follows the lines of the three bridges. The dial is handcrafted by renowned independent watchmaker Kari Voutilainen's atelier using a manual rose engine lathe.

A STARK CONTRAST BY THE BLACK PVD-COATED MOVEMENT PLATE

A matt black PVD-coated movement plate offers a stark contrast to the jungle green dial, highlighting its luminosity. It also complements the other visible movement parts – the barrel and the micro-rotor and the polished screws and jewels. The ASB19 movement and the steel hands are developed and manufactured by Armin Strom and are meticulously hand-finished in-house.

AN UNPRECEDENTED FEAT OF MICROMECHANICAL INGENUITY

Entirely visible from the dial side, the Gravity Equal Force is endowed with a constant force transmission integrated directly in the mainspring barrel. The result is consistent power transmission to the regulating organ, ensuring unwavering precision throughout the watch's autonomy.

In the quest of superior chronometric performance and more consistent isochronism, the Gravity Equal Force distinguishes itself as the first-ever watch to feature a stop-work declutch mechanism in an automatic winding movement. Incorporated directly within the mainspring barrel, this ingenious solution provides more consistent power delivery to the regulating organ at every stage of the movement's autonomy.

IN-HOUSE DESIGN AND PRODUCTION

Befitting its innovative, highly structural and superlatively hand-finished movement, the Gravity Equal Force's design is coherent – inside and out. Familiar forms take on new shapes and proportions that highlight the mechanical marvel within, constructed with a slim bezel and lugs profile that allows as much depth and detail as possible from the architectural movement to be admired from all angles.

A UNIQUE AUTOMATIC MOVEMENT VISIBLE ON DIAL SIDE

True to Armin Strom's singular approach of always showing the inner workings of mechanical watchmaking on the dial-side, the Gravity Equal Force highlights its unique automatic winding mechanism with an efficient micro-rotor from the dial side. Subtle yet legible, a power reserve indicator is integrated directly onto the mainspring barrel and its ingenious stop-work declutch mechanism.

This breathtaking new Gravity Equal Force timepiece was designed and produced in-house at our manufacture in Biel. Like every Armin Strom watch, its movement has been assembled twice. After its first assembly, the movement was painstakingly disassembled and each individual part was cleaned, dried, reassembled and lubricated before being meticulously regulated, tested, and returned to the case.
